

Post-Installation Documentation – ArcMap GIS Tools I

After running the installation program, InstallArcMapToolsI.exe, that you've downloaded from DOT's GIS distribution website or from a distribution CD, you will find the following on your computer:

1. All files are installed in c:\win32apps\dotarcgis
2. All new ArcMap Tools and associated files are in the "dotTools" directory. You should never remove anything from this directory. A User manual exists describing how to use the tools.
3. All ArcMap Templates are in the "dotTemplates" directory. These templates contain basic map printing layouts you may find useful. Documentation exists which describes how to use the templates.

It is recommended that you move these templates to another directory. It is suggested that you move them to ArcMap's default template directory \arcgis\arcexe81\bin\templates on the drive where ArcMap is installed. You may want to consider creating a new directory under ArcMap's default template directory for your personal and DOT templates.

4. All ArcMap Tools Documentation is located in the "dotDocumentation" directory. There you will find user and technical documentation in both Word and PDF formats. You will find documentation describing the how to install the ArcMap tool, how to use the ArcMap tools, and how to use the templates. You may also download these files from the GIS Unit Distribution Center website.
